For Immediate Release: April 19, 2009

WANTED – SHAQUAN ALTREK JOHNSON

Durham police investigators are trying to locate Shaquan Altrek Johnson who has been charged in connection with an attempted armed robbery Thursday night on North Duke Street.

The robbery happened shortly after a male had approached two females at the Shell convenience store on West Main Street and started a conversation with them. The females left the store around 9:45 p.m. and started to walk in the 200 block of Duke Street. A short time later, the male who spoke to them in the convenience store approached them on the street, pulled out a black handgun and demanded money. The victims did not give him any cash and he fled. He was described as a black male, 20 to 22 years old, 5 feet 5 inches to 5 feet 9 inches with a medium build and partially braided hair pulled back with a rubber band. He was wearing a black hoodie, blue jeans with red writing on the back and black/brown low top Nike shoes.

Johnson, 22, of Old Harness Place is charged with two counts of attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon.

Anyone with information on Johnson's whereabouts is asked to call Investigator Green at 560-4935, ext. 29415 or CrimeStoppers at 683-1200. CrimeStoppers pays cash rewards for information leading to arrests in felony cases and callers never have to identify themselves.
